“ BJ shared candy and hugs, which will never be forgotten. Even moreso, he shared his presence. He was gentle, and really saw you when he looked. I don't remember him ever being wordy with me, but every conversation--EVERY conversation, passing or otherwise--was worth the time.

“Dad was both my father and friend. I enjoyed countless hours chatting and being with him. He got me playing golf which I still do with friends. He encouraged me to learn the guitar as a young man which has had an immense impact on my life. I miss him. He is home with the Lord amongst the cloud of many witnesses. Love you, dad.
