“Dad was an amazing man. For 19 years, he worked at Aerojet General in Azusa. They transferred him, along with Mom, my 3 siblings and me, and our cat and dog to Sacramento. Six months later, Aerojet laid him off. Here was this man, in his fifties, who could have given up and gone to drinking. Dad was made of sterner and more courageous stuff. With the layoff funds, Mom and he paid off the house, and Dad went back to school. He wanted to be open to all job prospects, so he supplemented his Bachelor of Science in Chemical Engineering with accounting and other classes. A friend told him about a criminalist position with the California Department of Justice. He applied and was accepted. From the mid-70s to the mid-90s, he put his heart into this job and earned several awards for his thoroughness and overall upbeat and humble attitude. He succumbed to congestive heart failure at the age of 90, with his funeral attended by people of all ages and affiliations. We love him and still miss his gentle wisdom and rascally sense of humor (he loved puns). Thank you, Welch-Ryce-Haider folks for your immense assistance and for archiving his death, and a little here of his life.
